Biographical or Historical Note

The Martha Stewart Bulloch Chapter of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution (NSDAR) was founded in 1986 and serves the Roswell, Georgia area. The NSDAR extends membership to women that can trace their family lineage to those who actively supported the American cause during the American War for Independence. As a community service organization, the Martha Stewart Bulloch Chapter focuses on preserving local history as well as supporting the troops and veterans.

Scope and Content

The majority of the collection consists of scrapbooks prepared between 1988 and 2002. They contain photographs, flyers, newsletters, and other ephemera relating to the local chapter of the DAR. The collection also contains two published volumes of genealogical records prepared by club members.

Organization Note

Items in the collection are organized in chronological order.
